PRICE TWO CENTS

MEN RISK LIVES IN BURNED BLOCK

Volunteer Wreckers in the Equitable Building Take Big Chance to Save Millions

WALL STREET IS PARALYZED

Stock Exchange Is Staggered by Tying Up of Vast Amount of Securities

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Two hundred and fifty desperate men, warned in advance that their lives would be in constant danger, today accepted the tempting wages offered and entered the skeleton of the Equitable Life building, in an effort to shore up the tottering walls and clear a path toward the immense vaults that contain $2,000,000,000 in securities.

Wall street, totally staggered by its inability to use this fabulous sum in the daily routine of its business, admitted today that a fire, for the first time in the history of the New York stock exchange, has practically paralyzed the greatest financial center in the world.

Early today, fire and police, and building department officials were discussing the advisability of calling off all workers and dynamiting the walls, tying up the mammoth fortunes, but safeguarding the lives of firemen, policemen and laborers.

$15,000,000 Safe
The vaults of William A. Read, banker at Cedar and Nassau streets, were opened today. Their contents were found to be intact and $15,000,000 in money and securities were taken out and removed to safe quarters.

Police today refused to permit tenants of the tall American Exchange National bank, across Cedar street from the ruins, to enter their offices, though the bank officials were permitted to clear their vaults of securities and money, so that business might be resumed at temporary offices. The walls on the Cedar street side of the Equitable building had bulged five feet today and there was constant danger that they would fall.

Wreckers Warned
The wreckers who entered the building today did so only after each had been warned that his life was in constant danger. Despite this warning, the alluring wage offered drew an army of volunteers. Several ambulances were summoned by the police and kept waiting. The workers are trying to clear a passageway to the vaults, and to find the body of Battalion Chief William K. Walsh, who is believed to be buried on the fourth floor. No effort will be made for several days to secure the body of William Campeon, a special policeman, which is encased in a forty foot iceberg near the front of the building.

Gas May Explode
Fear is felt today that escaping gas may explode and cause severe damage. Hundreds of gas pipes throughout the building have been broken.

There was great suffering today among the 500 firemen and policemen, who have been on duty many hours at the fire.

An estimate shows that it has cost the city $100,000 in wages and smashed fire apparatus thus far to fight the fire.

Bear Raid Stopped
Bear speculators who sought to raid the stock market because of the inability of sellers to deliver stocks which are tied up in the vaults, have been stalled by the action of the Stock Exchange in suspending the deliveries. The bears, knowing they could not be called upon, under this rule, to deliver securities, sold short. The governing committee immediately changed its rule to read that deliveries need not be made by parties "directly or indirectly affected by the fire." This stopped the bear raid immediately, compelling the bears to buy stocks in the open market to make the deliveries.

$325,000,000 Removed
At 1:15 this afternoon, officials of the Equitable Trust company opened the vaults of that company, under an unusually heavy guard of police and detectives, and began moving the money and securities to vaults at 115 Broadway. According to President Krech, bonds and money to the value of more than $325,000,000 were found to be perfectly safe.

During this transfer, according to the police, there were guarding the block 200 plainclothes men, 100 uniformed policemen, 200 private detectives and 125 armed employees of the trust company.

Remove Money from District
New York's financial district became an armed camp today, while more than a hundred million dollars was moved from the fire swept Equitable building district to places of safety.

Not since the establishment of Inspector Byrnes' famous "dead line" have such elaborate precautions been taken to safeguard money in Wall street.

At 11:15 the vaults of the Mercantile branch of the Bankers' trust company were opened. The plain clothes men, twenty uniformed men

GOVERNMENT TO REGULATE PRICE

This Is Carnegie's Solution of Corporation Problems; Admits Trusts

SAYS COMPETITION IS GONE

Day of Competing Firms Past, Andy Tells Members of Stanley Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Cornered after a shrewd battle of wits, Andrew Carnegie admitted to the Stanley committee that the steel industry is now dominated by the steel trust and that the day of competition has passed.

The shrewd little Scotchman led the committee a merry chase. He summoned to his aid in his evading process, a perfect flood of jests, anecdotes, personal reminiscences, all interesting but unimportant.

Representative Beall brought out the important testimony.

"Do you believe the day of competition is over?" asked Beall.

"Yes, I do," Carnegie finally answered.

"Why has competition ceased?" "Because the corporation representatives have been able to sit down and agree to fix prices and maintain them. This is obvious."

"How can this condition be remedied?"

Wants Government Control
Here again Carnegie endeavored to wander. Finally he declared that the government should regulate maximum prices.

"That system," he said, "has been successful with the railroads and would be successful with the big corporations."

"Don't you believe that it is about time that the punitive arm of the law should be invoked and the men who violated natural competition should be seized by the strong hand of the law and incarcerated. Should not he be held up as an example, as a warning to his fellow millionaires that they may no longer be indifferent to the law? Is it not time that we decided that ignorance of the law is no excuse?" asked Mr. Stanley.

"That is a good legal view," answered Carnegie, "but I think that morally that man's conscience is clear who can say 'I did no wrong knowingly.'"

Carnegie pleaded for clemency for the "ignorant manufacturers." Several times he was cornered, but always a jest or philosophic sally saved his face. He declared that no consideration had been given to the Sherman law from 1890 on until he left the steel business. He asserted he had never suspected that the men associated with him were violating the law.

"Out of all this trouble," Carnegie volunteered, "a new condition will arise. There will be a new era in which all classes, capital and labor, will be satisfied and interested."

WEATHER RECORDS GO

CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE AND MINNEAPOLIS RECORDS FOR COLD DURATION BROKEN

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—A record for cold weather that has stood for forty years was broken today when Chicago experienced its eighth consecutive day of below zero weather.

Forecaster Cox predicted cold for tonight, with a minimum temperature of 12 below zero. The mercury early today registered three below.

Suffering is increasing on all sides, despite the efforts of the county agent and the various charitable societies. The health officers fear a spread of contagious diseases due to bad sanitary conditions in congested districts incident to the cold weather.

Reports from all over the west and northwest indicate new low temperature records for the winter, and at many points all records for years have been shattered.

Railroad traffic is badly hampered, and passenger trains on many roads are running far behind schedules. Freight traffic is demoralized, and local coal dealers predict a fuel famine unless quick improvement in railroad conditions is made.

Milwaukee Records Broken
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 11.—The past consecutive ten days have been the coldest ever known at the Milwaukee station since its establishment in 1871, said Major H. B. Hersey, government weather inspector in charge of this district today.

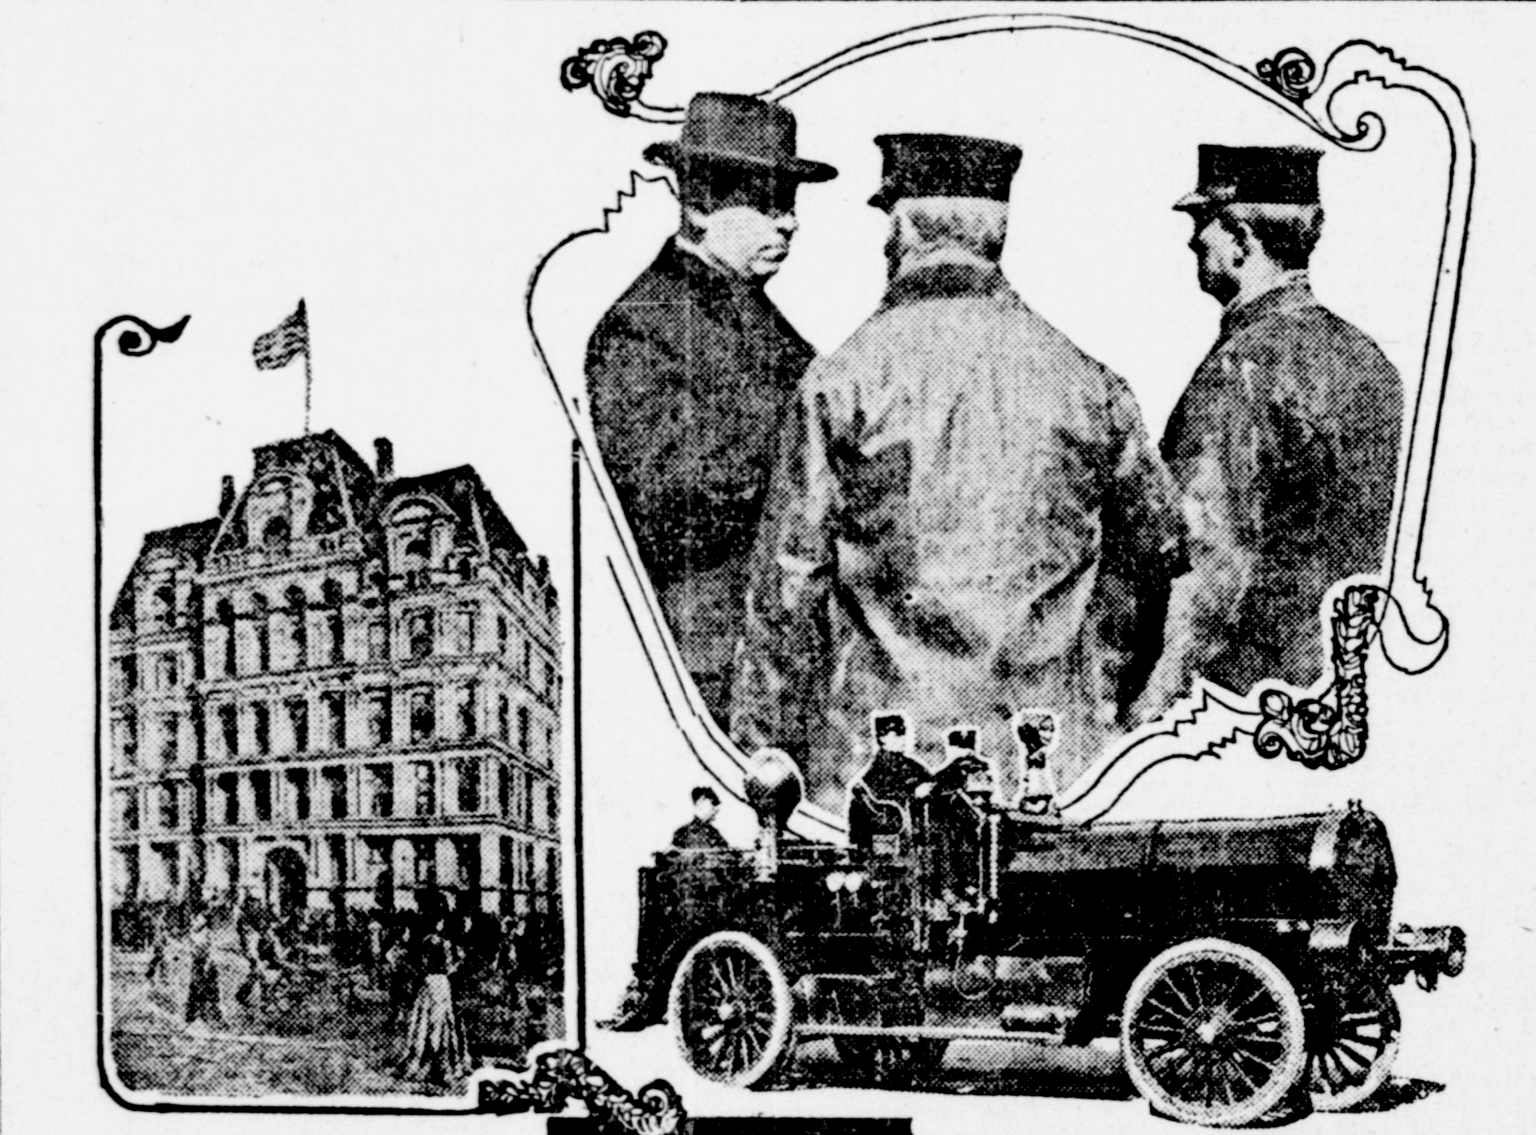

Minneapolis Near Mark
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 11.—During the night the government thermometer here registered 30 degrees below zero, three degrees higher than the lowest record.

A few temperatures this morning are: Grand Forks, 44 below; Devils Lake, 40; Williston, 40; Medicine Hat, 44; Bismarck, 34.

FREEZES TO DEATH

GREEN BAY, Wis., Jan. 11.—With the mercury 20 below zero the body of Axel Palm, 50, a logger, whose home was at Oconto, Wis., was found frozen in the lake woods today.

HUSBAND KILLS WIFE'S FRIEND

Angered at Girl's Refusal to Elope with Him, He Shoots Her and Kills Self

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Because of her determination to remain true to her friend, whose husband pursued her relentlessly with his attentions, Miss Edith Smith, a beautiful young teacher of Wheaton, was the victim in one of the most sensational tragedies in the history of that fashionable suburb. Today her body lies in the dark morgue of the little town, while hundreds of friends are praising her devotion that caused her to give up her life rather than submit to the proposals of Sylvester E. Adams, who commanded her to run away with him.

Shoots Girl and Self
Adams went to the little school yesterday afternoon. He awaited in the school room until the children had been dismissed. Then, according to the theory of the police, he made a last demand on the girl that she accompany him on a trip. She refused, as she had done many times before. Then Adams drew a gun and shot the girl through the temple. As she fell, he turned the revolver upon himself and put a bullet through his brain. Both died instantly.

A note from Miss Smith to Adams was found in the dead man's pocket, beseeching him for the sake of his wife, her girlhood friend, to be a man. To this appeal Adams' reply was "if you don't meet me, God help you—you'll regret it." The tragedy in the school house followed.

HIXON AGAIN HEADS INDUSTRIAL MEN

At a special meeting of the directors of the La Crosse Industrial association held at the La Crosse club at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the officers of the association were all re-elected for the coming year. The officers are: F. P. Hixon, president; E. E. Bentley, vice president; George Zeisler, treasurer, and John Utermoehl, secretary. Plans for the year and the work of last year were discussed informally.

FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS TODAY

Question of New Prime Minister Occupies Attention of Paris; Delcasse Suggested

PARIS, Jan. 11.—Members of the Caillaux cabinet placed their resignations in the hands of President Fallieres at noon today. It was merely a formal procedure, as the ministers had announced late yesterday that they would quit their posts.

Much speculation is being indulged in as to who will be chosen premier to succeed M. Caillaux. M. Delcasse, minister of marine, who accepted the office of foreign minister upon the earnest request of President Fallieres yesterday in an effort to stave off dissolution of the cabinet, is being hailed on all sides as the man of the hour. It is conceded that the anti-German policies he advocated when he was foreign minister several years ago, and which resulted in his resignation because of German pressure, will be followed by whoever is selected as prime minister. In some quarters it is even believed that Delcasse himself may be made premier.

Because of the fact that the negotiations with Spain regarding the Moroccan affair have reached a critical stage, and the Franco-German accord, which was accepted by the deputies, is still pending in the senate, the reorganization of the cabinet must be speedily conducted. No confirmation could be obtained of the report that President Fallieres was considering the advisability of offering the prime ministry to Former Premier Clemenceau.

STANDPATTER WINS

ORGANIZATION MAN GETS PROGRESSIVE'S SEAT ON RULES COMMITTEE AFTER BIG FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—House democrats broke with republican progressives this afternoon, voted with the standpat republicans and replaced with an organization candidate, the place on the important rules committee held by the late Representative Madison (progressive, Kan.). Campbell (Rep., Kan.) was selected in Madison's place. By a vote of 107 to 167, Representative Morris' nomination of Representative Murdock (Pro., Kan.) for the vacancy was defeated, and Campbell elected. Majority Leader Underwood nominated Campbell on behalf of Minority Leader Mann.

HARMON BEGINS HIS CAMPAIGN

Opens with Speech at Chicago, in which He Asks Support on Ohio Record

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—What the people of this country need in their national politics is the Ohio program. We have accomplished reforms in Ohio that, if spread over the entire country, would bring improvements in governments such as the people hardly realize today.

This was the declaration of Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio today at the luncheon of the Iroquois club in the La Salle hotel, where he opened his western campaign for the democratic nomination for president. The gathering was composed largely of that faction of local democracy presented by the leadership of ex-Mayor E. F. Dunne. Mayor Carter Harrison was not present, and but few of the Harrison-Hearst following appeared. The gathering was enthusiastic, and the Ohio executive found that aside from local factional disagreements in the party, he has a large following in Illinois.

Many out of town democratic leaders attended. In making his appeal for support, Governor Harmon confined himself entirely to a recital of what had been done under his administration in Ohio.

SOCIALISTS TO SEND EIGHT DELEGATES

Word was received today from the state headquarters of the social democratic party at Milwaukee, by the local chairman, to the effect that La Crosse socialists are entitled to eight nominations for delegates to the national convention to be held at Oklahoma City, May 12. TELLS METHODS OF FIXING PRICES

Supply of Cattle Never Figured as Factor in the Cost of Beef, Says Moyer

COSTS WERE ARTIFICIAL

Says Packers' Expenses Were Raised by Fake Costs to Show Small Profits

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Henry F. Moyer, chief of the auditing department of the Armour company, described the methods used by the packers in arriving at costs and fixing prices, at the trial of the packing trust heads before Federal Judge Carpenter today.

U. S. District Attorney Wilkerson conducted the examination and his questions were calculated to develop the charge that the test cost of operating was not the actual cost, but that the packers, by a system of "inflated costs" and subsidiary corporations through which they realized most of their profits had been able to show figures indicating that the dressed meat industry had not been lucrative in recent years.

Two Penning Charges

Moyer discussed the item of "penning charges." He declared that the cost of penning and feeding cattle was charged against the dressed carcass, but no credit was made for the shipper who sold the cattle. It developed that this cost was charged twice for every head of stock received, once against the dressed meat and once against the farmer.

Moyer admitted that the prices at which meats were sold were governed by the "cost figures" submitted by him. He said that meats were never sold to his knowledge below the price margins based on his cost figures. He acknowledged that he had never figured on the supply of cattle or the demand for meat. He also admitted that changes in cost charges were frequently ordered by the heads of packinghouses.

Sheets to Armour

The government gained a new bit of information when on a "fishing expedition" with the witness it learned that Moyer, as soon as he had made out his cost sheets for the week, gave them to Bartholomew O'Conner, a messenger for the Armour concern, and that they were locked in a vault in the Armour offices.

The disposition of these sheets had been a mystery to the government investigators. They will undoubtedly be demanded by Wilkerson to show that they were used by other packers as the basis for fixing prices, as well as by the Armour concern. Should this charge be proven, it will bring up the evidence of the alleged syndicate conspiracy to 1907, a time within the period covered by the indictment.

NINETEEN ARE GUILTY

WHITE SLAVERS ARE CONVICTED IN PARIS AFTER SENSATIONAL TRIAL. MANY FLEE COUNTRY

PARIS, Jan. 11.—All of the nineteen prisoners accused of being implicated in the notorious white slave scandal, which has engrossed Paris for weeks, were found guilty today after a secret trial which lasted a fortnight. Victor Flachon, former editor of "The Lantern," and a power in politics, was sentenced to a year in prison. His mistress, who led in the notorious orgies at Flachon's chateaux and villas, was ordered imprisoned for ten months while Gabrielle Guilmoin, who conducted the "Nitechevo agency," in which young girls were sold on the commission plan, was given two years.

Five of the prisoners were banished from France and the mothers who confessed the selling of the children, were given sentences ranging from six months to six years.

The evidence submitted at the trial was so shocking that the public was barred. It was of such a degrading nature that even the French newspapers dared not print it.

During the inquiry before the prefect of police, persons living near the "Nitechevo agency," told how magistrates, diplomats, bankers, and manufacturers visited the resort and departed in luxurious limousines, with young girls they had purchased.

All of the victims were in their early teens. One mother sold her daughter, who was only eleven years old. Many prominent men fled from France to avoid prosecution. It is believed that the court's finding will practically amount to banishment for them, as they will not dare return and face the charges against them.

HOUSEKEEPER IS HEARD BY JURY

Inmate of Sadie Stone's Place First One Called at This Afternoon's Session

HER COMING IS UNEXPECTED

J. E. Higbee's Stenographer with Jury All Morning; Police Justice Cronon Testifies

"Teddy" Wilson, recent housekeeper for Sadie Stone, who ran a "house" on Second and King streets until the police order closing the redlight district went into effect, was the first witness called by the grand jury at this afternoon's session. Miss Wilson is one of the redlight denizens who left the city shortly before the grand jury was called. She did not testify before the fire and police commission at their investigation of the charges against members of the police department. Miss Wilson's coming back is said to be somewhat of a surprise to those who have been closely watching the developments of the investigation. She arrived from her home in Freeport, Ill., on an early morning train today. It is rumored that Miss Wilson is the first of several others who have decided to come back to testify before the grand jury.

Mr. Oscar J. Swennes, stenographer for E. C. Higbee, one of the attorneys for Volton and McGrath during the investigation by the fire and police commission, was the last witness called by the grand jury yesterday. He was called again this morning and spent the entire forenoon closeted with the jury. Mr. Swennes kept a stenographic record of the testimony and argument before the commission investigation. This record, except for some notes taken by District Attorney James Thompson, was the only one kept of the proceedings. Police Justice Edward Cronon was another witness who was called before the grand jury at the yesterday afternoon session. He was called immediately after Chief of Police J. B. Webber. Judge Cronon testified before the commission in regard to the firing of Frank Scott following the raid on the European hotel.

Undersheriff Louis Omerberg, in the absence of Sheriff Chris Burns who is ill with a cold, is serving the subpoenas for the grand jury. It is rumored that Mr. Omerberg is meeting with some difficulty in finding some of those whom he is requested to bring in. It is said that some who are desired as witnesses are not to be found in their accustomed haunts and have "given it out" that they want to be found there until the grand jury investigation comes to an end.

CHEESEMAKERS WANT INSPECTOR

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 11.—Cheap and inefficient labor in the cheese factories was said by President J. B. McCready of the Wisconsin Cheese Makers' association at the opening session of the twentieth annual meeting in the Republican house yesterday, to have cost cheese makers in this state more than $500,000 in a year, or about 2 per cent of the value of their product. Skilled help, at better wages, would be a real economy, he said. He suggested that the state be asked to appropriate $25,000 a year to pay the salaries of inspectors, who could tour the state and show the cheese makers the practical application of advanced methods. Co-operation among the cheese makers, to raise the standard of their product, he strongly advocated. The delegates to the convention were welcomed by Frank A. Cannon, secretary of the Citizens' Business league. The morning session was devoted to the address of President McCready and the reports of directors and officers.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

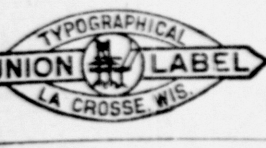

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

A MISTAKEN IDEA OF REPRESENTATION

"Ohio progressives endorsing Senator La Follette refused to instruct delegates for any candidate. This is the truer policy and what this paper has always and does now advocate, claiming all conventions should be composed of uninstructed delegates. This uninstructed feature is endorsed by Pinchot. The idea is not patented for many citizens have been opposed to any instructing of delegates, and this instruction business is really what brought about the primary direct election."

The Journal misses the point upon which objection to instructed delegates has rested. It was not, we believe, the intention that delegates in a convention selecting delegates to a national convention should not act in accordance with the wishes of their constituents. Delegates to the national convention, acting under instructions from the delegate convention, was more nearly representative, or should have been, than uninstructed delegates would be. The trouble was that, while the members of the delegate convention might be expected to be more representative than the smaller body whom they chose as delegates to the higher convention, if left to their own convictions, would be, theory did not always work out in practice. In other words a delegate convention whose

Letting Him Off Cheap

"In the spring of 1879," said Col. Mike Connolly, a noted newspaper man of Memphis, at the Rennett, "I was in the little town of Lampasas, in the Lone Star state, and while waiting to take a stage for Austin went into a barber shop on the main street of the village. The proprietor seemed a very friendly citizen and I was impressed with his air of kindness and good humor. He was so mild-mannered that I wondered while he was lathering me if he were not a Sunday school superintendent. While still revolving this speculation he suddenly laid down the razor and catching up a vicious-looking six-shooter from a table, murmured 'Excuse me, sir, for just a minute, but there goes a chap I've got to settle with,' and thereupon he dashed into the street. Before I could climb down from the chair the report of a Colt's .45 reverberated on the air. I didn't know what trouble might ensue, and so concluded to stay where I was; but in a trice my barber was back, as smiling as ever, and begging my pardon profusely, resumed operations on my face.

"I didn't want to kill the dirty greaser, judge," said he in relating the episode, 'and just sent one bullet into his left leg.'—Baltimore American.

Siamese English

The proprietors of a Siamese newspaper have distributed handbills containing the following:

"The news of English we tell the latest. Writ in perfectly style and most earliest. Do a murder git commit, we hear of and tell it. Do a mighty chief die, we publish it, and in borders of sombre. Old Jum, gardener and general factotum, was accompanied one day by a bright looking lad 8 or 10 years old.

"Is this your boy?" I asked.

"Yessuh, he mine, he last one I got sub—Junior, you wuffless nigger, mek you manners ter de white folks!"

"Junior," I commented, "So he is named after you."

"Nawsub," the old man replied, rather indignantly; "he ain't named for me. My name Jumbo, whar my many git out'n de Bible. Dis hyar chile name Junior cuz he wuz bawn in June."—Lippincott's Magazine.

His Crown of Gold

Father Bernard Vaughan, the distinguished English priest and author, said of an unbeliever at a dinner in New York:

"He misunderstands. He is like the little school girl.

"A school teacher, inculcating principles of morality in her young charges, said one day:

"Now, my dears, if you do right always you will each wear a golden crown."

"My papa wears a gold crown, now," a little girl of six years piped.

"I have often seen your father, Jessie," said the teacher, with a puzzled smile, "but I never noticed his gold crown. When and where does he wear it?"

"He always wears it," said the little girl, solemnly, "on his toof!"—Detroit Free Press.

The Kaiser's Frolicsome Son

A diplomat at a dinner in Washington discussed the crown prince of Germany.

"He gives his poor father a lot of trouble," the diplomat said, with a frown.

"The Reichstag incident, where he showed open disapproval of the Kaiser's peace policy, is only one of many similar incidents that the public hears nothing about.

"A friend of mine, one winter night, was skating with the crown prince at St. Moritz, in the Swiss Engadine. The sky glauced and glittered splendidly with its hosts of stars, and my friend, pointing to a star of marvelous brilliancy, said:

"I wonder what star that is?"

"Doubtless," said the crown prince, with a sneering laugh, "it is some new decoration wherewith my father has seen fit to honor the ruler of the heavens."—Washington Star.

Stanton Wins

"I know, I know," he deprecated. "But, I might see her more, and seeing no better men she might come to bear with me. Not that there is much in me worth it—she probably never would look at me. What I am asking you now, is whether you want me to keep away from her. Say yes, and we will shake hands and drop the subject for ever."

Very slowly Floyd held out his slender hand.

"Jessica has the right to a chance," he agreed. "I'm not going to meddle with things beyond my understanding. An' I'd rather have her your wife than have anything else in the world. Only—you've seen her just once—you can't tell if you want her, yet."

Stanton shot him one straight, expressive glance.

"She is like you," slipped from him voluntarily; then, furious at this betrayal of sentiment, he dropped the other's hand. "We had better go, or we'll miss the train," he brusquely reminded.

"Oh, she is like me," confirmed Floyd; he turned to look again at the factory. "We are pretty close chums. Yes, you an' I had better be gettin' to the train."

They walked back to the nearest trolley line, both silent.

The subject was not touched again until the following morning, when they left the train for New York.

"When shall I see you?" Stanton questioned, as they exchanged farewells in the noisy depot. "Tomorrow?"

"I'm going to be out of town for the next two weeks, Mr. Green tells me," Floyd replied. "They want me at the Mercury factory, and there are some other trips, too, I believe. Jessica is going to be rather deserted; if you happen to look her up, no doubt she would be glad to speak to some one besides her nurse."

"Thank you," accepted Stanton, carelessly. "Take care of yourself."

He had not reached the exit when Floyd overtook him.

"Here are the entries for the Cup race," he panted, thrusting a folded newspaper into Stanton's hand. "There are two Atlanta cars to run against us. It's your who need to take care of yourself, until afterward."

"Floyd, wait! What do you mean? Do you really think—"

But his mechanician evaded the question.

"Some people are hoodoos," he laughed. "Keep away from them, please. Goodby."

He had not spoken Valerie Carlisle's name, yet Stanton knew against whom he warned. And the melodramatic absurdity of the idea did not prevent an odd thrill of discomfort and insecurity, from which he took his usual refuge in roughness.

"I'm not in the habit of hiding from people, hoodoos or not. Goodby."

"Oh, very well," acquiesced Floyd oddly. "But if you won't take care of yourself, Stanton—"

"Well, what?"

"Never mind."

Quite So

The teacher in the primary department of a Philadelphia school had been holding forth at some length with reference to the three grand divisions of nature—the animal, the vegetable and the mineral. When she had finished she put this question:

"Who can tell me what the highest form of animal life is?"

Whereupon the pupil nearest her hastened to supply the answer as follows:

"The giraffe."—Lippincott's.

the stairs of the quiet apartment house, sure of his right.

As before, the little old Irishwoman clad in black silk was waiting to admit him; as before, he could have cried out in the wonder of seeing this girl who turned Floyd's candid face to him and smiled with Floyd's gray eyes. Only, this afternoon Jessica did not rise from the piano seat to greet him, but from a chair near a window.

"Jes is away again," she regretted, giving him her hand.

"I came to see you, by his permission," Stanton returned.

The rich color flushed under her marvelous skin, that was like no other woman's he had ever seen. Floyd differed there, man from girl, his complexion being much darker and less translucent.

"It is too early to give you tea and cake," she told him, with a playfulness partly shy. "But if you will talk to me for half an hour, it will be after four o'clock and I can offer you hospitality."

"What shall I talk to you about?" he doubted. "I am better at listening, I think."

"Oh, anything, everything. Suppose I were Jes; I like what he likes, racing, factories, motor-cars."

Although the season was early, a fire burned in the tiny hearth, on either side of which they were seated, facing each other. In the ruddy light Stanton contemplated the smiling girl, in her pale-blue gown with its lace ruffles foaming around her full young throat and falling low across her hands.

"Your brother has told you of the business partnership that we plan for this winter, Miss Floyd?" She nodded her bronze-crowned head.

"Yes; I am very glad."

"Did he," sudden fancy prompted the question, "did he tell you that I was coming here to see you, if I might?"

"Did he know of it?" she asked in counter-question.

Floyd had kept the confidence given him, then, although no formal restraint had been made. The expression that crossed Stanton's dark face was warm and very gentle.

"He knew, yes. I wish I could have met your brother years ago; I might have been less hard a man, more fit to know him, and you, now."

"You, hard?"

"Has he not taught you that I am so?"

In her earnestness she leaned forward, her eyes fearlessly on his.

"Never. Do not imagine he thinks you that, do not so wrong his memory of your kindness. A rough word—what is it? The first gentleness cancels it: what is a friend worth who does not understand?"

Stanton bent his head, looking at the fire.

SPOTLIGHTS

"THE COUNTRY BOY"

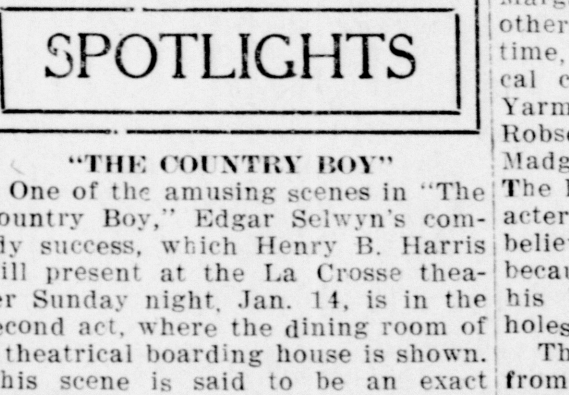

One of the amusing scenes in "The Country Boy," Edgar Selwyn's comedy success, which Henry B. Harris will present at the La Crosse theater Sunday night, Jan. 14, is in the second act, where the dining room of a theatrical boarding house is shown. This scene is said to be an exact reproduction of a boarding house that was located on West Forty-first street, New York, about ten years ago, where Mr. Selwyn and his wife,

Margaret Mayo, lived. Some of the others who boarded there at the time, and who later became theatrical celebrities, were the Earl of Yarmouth, Eugene Walter, Eleanor Robson (now Mrs. August Belmont), Madge Carr Cook, and Jane Kennard. The landlady was a famous old character and it was she who wouldn't believe that Yarmouth was an earl, because, as she said, "The idea of his being an earl—why, he's got holes in his socks!"

The company comes here direct from five months at the Liberty theater, New York, and two months at Powers' theater, Chicago. The cast includes such well known artists as Alfred Cooper, Frank McCormick, Dean Burup, Frank E. Jamison, Geo. Schaeffer, Olive Templeton, Elda Furry, Charlotte Langdon, Nellie Fillmore and others. The sale of seats opens Saturday morning.

MAY ROBSON

May Robson has achieved the unusual distinction of being the best delineator of eccentric women having a quaint humor. It has been stated and the statement frequently repeated, that women in general have no keen sense of humor. Miss Robson is assuredly a living contradiction to this assertion. May Robson is an actress of exquisite pose, enunciation clear and distinct, and her transitions from touching pathos to joviality is a revelation. In the new play, "A Night Out," she will appear in the character of a good natured, but eccentric old lady who is held in great esteem by her two grandsons, since she simply dotes on them, and enters into their love troubles, acting as a sort of guardian; therefore, she easily persuades the boys to take her to a fashionable restaurant in New York. She is entirely innocent of the character of the place, and is enjoying the novelty of the surroundings, when the police raid the place. "Grammum" and the boys are hustled into the street by Mitza, the dancing girl, and a policeman, whom Grammum has bribed. Arriving home they find the doors locked and the lights out. The boys overcome this by climbing up the ivy and assisting Grammum through the window. The character of "Grammum" affords Miss Robson full opportunity for her natural gifts in the portrayal of eccentric characters, in which the expressions of pathos and humor are alternately and naturally expressed. Miss Robson will appear at the La Crosse theater Monday night, Jan. 15, supported by Jack Storey, Paul Decker, Eugene Orway, John Rowe, George Hall, Faye Cusick, Edith Conrad, Margaret Boland and Louise Rand.

FIRST WOMAN SHERIFF

MRS. JOHN S. CROSBY

NEW YORK CITY—Mrs. John S. Crosby, president of the Women's Democratic club has accepted the badge of deputy sheriff at the hands of Sheriff Harburger.

"My club has always advocated policewomen," she said, after getting the badge. "I will do anything I am expected to do in the preservation of peace and morality. I am a suffragist, but that will have no bearing on my work as deputy sheriff. I would arrest a suffragette just as soon as any other person, if she were breaking the law. If they try breaking windows, I'll pull them in."

OF ENCOURAGEMENT AND RECOLLECTION

"President Taft," says the Evening Wisconsin, "has received a great deal of encouragement lately. Among his callers yesterday was Senator Bradley of Kentucky who pledged his personal allegiance."

Senator Bradley is a standpatter. That's the only kind of encouragement the president is receiving.

Apropos of something else the Wisconsin says that "President Taft evidently does not forget . . . that dignity is an appropriate attribute of the presidential office." Rather an embarrassing recollection, it would seem.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Incubators of Disease

The dangers of infection from breathing the dust and germs that are carried into the schoolroom by the shoes of hundreds of children have been a source of no little anxiety to the health authorities. Microbes of all sorts of infectious diseases find their way into the nasal passages and bronchial tubes of the pupils with the very air they breathe. Slight coughs or inflamed throats, if not given prompt attention, often develop into serious maladies, and tuberculosis finds a ready breeding place upon the sensitive membranes of the children's lungs.

Parents should never neglect the slightest symptoms of a cold in their children. A few drops of virgin oil of pine on a lump of sugar or in connection with a mixture of glycerine and whiskey is said by health authorities to be one of the most certain cures for troubles of this character, and a good means of preventing the development of disease germs.

The genuine virgin oil of pine is prepared only in the laboratories of the Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, O., who guarantee its freshness and purity; it can be secured at any drug store in half-ounce vials, the most convenient size for home use.

John Moore, who formerly managed Young Sampson, north side wrestler, who is not in the game this year, has secured Young Boener, 2008 Washington Avenue South, Minneapolis, to fill several dates with men who wished to meet the north side wrestler.

Boener is a good wrestler and he has an excellent record. During the winter he will meet Jack Hagensick at Elkador, Frank Augustine at Whitehall, Whipple at Guttenburg, and Paul Pruehn at Mason City in matches which give every indication of being hard fought.

Boener is the former training partner of Rooney, who is a prominent wrestler. Rooney, who weighs 203 pounds, recently defeated Curley, 205 pounds, in two falls which were made in two hours and ten minutes of wrestling.

COMPLETE NEWS OF NORTH SIDE

NEAR ACCIDENT AT CROSSING

Trolley of Street Car Jumps the Wire at the Mill Street Tracks

The need of a viaduct on the north side which would do away with the danger connected with street cars having to go over the railroad tracks on Mill street was plainly shown last evening when the trolley of a car crossing the tracks jumped off the wire. At the same time the rope holding the trolley was broken and a serious accident might have happened had a train come along at that time.

The trolley came off the wire while the car was crossing the tracks and going up the incline at the north of the tracks. As the brakes could not hold the car on the grade it began to back down and could not be stopped until it was across one of the tracks.

In this predicament the car was held for some time as the rope controlling the trolley was broken. The trolley at the front of the car had to be used then to allow the car to climb the grade and a train came along shortly after the top of the grade had been reached. Had this train come sooner a collision might have occurred as the car was barely able to ascend the grade with the aid of the forward trolley.

The guests danced until a late hour, all reporting an excellent time. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Those present were: the Misses Anna Snyder, Kathryn Snyder, Elizabeth Stockemer, Leona Roth, Ella Conney, Bernice Downs, Emily Johnson, Edna Conney, Ethel Mulder, Vera Bunn, Blanche Mulder, Elva Hoff, Ella Gilberg, Ella Manke, Della Morrison, Lizzie Roden, Nellie Whipple, Kathryn Taylor, Agnes Anderson and Mamie and Esther Baldwin; Messrs. FRANKLINS DEBATE ON SHOW QUESTION

The question to be debated by the Franklin club tonight is, "Resolved, that moving picture shows and vaudeville theaters do more harm than good." Professor Phillip Elliot is the leader of the negative for the debate, while Roy Ahlstrom will lead the discussion for the affirmative.

It is expected that the debate will prove to be highly interesting as the members of the club have decided opinions in support of either one side or the other.

LEAGUE DEMANDS FIRE PROTECTION

North Side Progressives Fear for Safety of Arctic Ice and Fuel Company Buildings

ROAD IS IN POOR CONDITION

Highway Leading Up to Rubber Mills Comes in for Part of the Discussion

A resolution that fire protection be furnished the Arctic Ice & Fuel company by installing a hydrant near the ice houses at Summer and St. Cloud streets will be presented to the common council at the meeting Friday evening according to the decision of the North Side Progressive league at their monthly meeting in Woodman hall last night.

It was pointed out that in case of a fire at the plant of the Arctic Ice & Fuel company there would be much danger as the hose would have to be stretched for several blocks. In view of the fact that the buildings are worth about $15,000 it was thought that a hydrant should be placed nearer the plant. This matter was brought to the attention of the league as a result of which they decided to take it up with the council.

Rubber Mill Road

The members discussed the question of the poor road and the board walk leading to the Rubber Mills. Both the road and walk are in poor condition and should be repaired and fixed up so that employees of the mill can have a good means of reaching the plant. It was declared that if the walk in question belonged to a private individual it would have been condemned long ago as the new planks which have been put in have made it uneven and hard to walk upon. The city should repair it, assert the members. No action on the matter was taken by the league.

The proposed Rose street viaduct was also talked over by the members of the league who discussed the various ways cars could be run when the bridge is built. Secretary Lowry was of the opinion that Mill street business men do not want the line taken off that street while he asserted that some property owners on Rose street do not want it. Alderman George B. Marvin, Jr., suggested that the council ascertain how much it would cost to build the viaduct on Caledonia street instead of on Rose street but no action was taken on this question.

Upon a motion made by Alderman Marvin a committee of three will be appointed by the vice president and be given the power to investigate and act on holding a banquet some time in February. It was pointed out that some means of interesting the people in the league should be found as it is thought of securing some speaker to address the league at the banquet or later in the season was also talked over but this will be left to the committee.

Collibohm Sends Bill

A short time ago a letter was received from M. H. Collibohm, who represented the city of La Crosse at Madison when the La Crosse Gas & Electric company petitioned to be allowed to increase their rates, stating that a balance of $239 was still due him for his services. As $250 has already been paid him it was not known that the city owed him any more. The letter was read but the matter was not discussed to any extent.

The league authorized the payment of two bills which were presented.

As neither the president nor the vice president were present, Mr. Thompson was appointed chairman of the evening.

AROUND THE WORLD IN AN AUTO

TO JONES, JR. DEANE

T. M. HANLON

NEW YORK CITY.—Among the "shiver" squad which arrived on the Lusitania January 5, were three happy enthusiastic automobilists who are just completing the last stage of their trip around the world in a small automobile. Then men are Tom Jones, J. R. Drake and T. M. Hanlon. These men started out nearly a year ago from Detroit and have circled the entire globe.

The first stage was to San Francisco, then across to Honolulu, then to the Philippines, Japan, China, India, touching Africa through the Suez canal, touring Europe and then the trip across the Atlantic to New York. They are now on their way from New York to Detroit, where they expect to arrive the latter part of next week. This is the first time in the world's history that a light road car has made the circuit of the globe.

RAILROADS CHANGE COTTONSEED RATES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Representatives of the Missouri Pacific, Santa Fe and other railroads in Texas and Oklahoma appeared before the interstate commerce commission yesterday to complete a new rate schedule adjusted to confirm the recent decision of the commission reducing the rates on cotton seed oil from Oklahoma points to consuming territory.

The complaint against the railroads was brought by 32 Oklahoma manufacturers of cottonseed products and attacked practically all cottonseed rates as unreasonable and discriminatory.

NAME DELEGATES TO CONVENTION

Olbrich and Pearce. Named for Republican National Convention at Madison Yesterday

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 11.—Progressive republicans of the Third district met here yesterday afternoon and named Attorney Michael B. Olbrich, Madison, and Dr. W. J. Pearce of Dodgeville, as delegates to the republican national convention. A spirited contest for a delegate for Dane county involved the names of Mr. Olbrich, George V. Borchsenius and former Senator A. M. Stoddard all of Madison, but the first named was an easy winner. Mr. Olbrich's name was presented by Assemblyman C. A. Harper, Mr. Borchsenius' by Nissen P. Stenjem, and Mr. Stoddard's by Sol Levitan, Madison.

Col. Duncan McGregor, Platteville, private secretary to Gov. McGovern, nominated Dr. Pearce. Edward Pollock, Lancaster; Dwight Parker, Fenimore; and former Assemblyman Samuel E. Smalley, Cuba City, were also nominated. The election of Dr. Pearce was almost perfunctory.

Senator John S. Donald, Mt. Horeb, was elected chairman of the district conference. Senator James J. Blaine, Boscobel, president of the Wisconsin La Follette club, addressed the conference on methods of organization and pleaded for a spirit of harmony in carrying out the purposes set forth by the recent Milwaukee conference. He said he expected State delegates elected at so small an expenditure of money as to astonish everybody.

Howard Chadwick, editor of the Monroe Times, was elected secretary over Alvin B. Peterson of Soldiers Grove.

The district comprises the counties of Dane, Iowa, Grant, Lafayette, Green, Crawford and Richland. About eighty republicans attended. The name of Senator La Follette was cheered in this, his home district and county.

Brown himself expects to be named on the committee on committees of the ninth district and thus to be in a position to dominate it.

PLAN SETTLEMENT OF BRIDGE FIGHT

Council Committee Likely to Recommend Acceptance of Construction Company's Offer

WOULD DROP INJUNCTION

West Channel Structure, Bone of Contention, May Be Repaired at Cost of $6,000

That the bridge and finance committee of the city council will decide to recommend the acceptance of the offer of the La Crosse Construction company to put the west channel bridge in perfect condition according to the plans and specifications of City Engineer Bradish for a sum of $6,684.60, is probable. If this is done it will remove the threatened injunction of that company, which would put a stop to all improvement on the part of the city, in Minnesota. The committee will meet at the city hall tonight when definite action will be taken.

The bridge was originally constructed by the La Crosse Construction company, the contract price being $15,000. After three years it was found that the bridge was not satisfactory or safe for heavy traffic. The city then refused to pay the $2,000 which was still owing to the company for the work.

Injunction Threatened
As the city has no authority to spend money for improvement outside of the state, no legal action could be brought to make the city pay the remainder of the original cost. However, by way of forcing the city to meet its obligations, the company declared that as soon as any steps were taken for improvement of any kind in Minnesota, by the city, they would have an injunction served, putting a stop to the work. This would practically cut off all road and bridge improvement by La Crosse, on the road between here and La Crosse as well as expenditure of money for the care or improvement of the public bath house.

City Engineer Bradish has drawn up specifications and plans for the repair of the bridge which he says will put it in perfect condition. The cost of carrying out this improvement according to Mr. Bradish will be $6,000.

By way of compromise, the La Crosse Construction company has offered to make the repairs according to plans and specifications of Mr. Bradish, providing the city will pay the remaining $2,000 and $4,684.60 making a total of $6,684.60. As it will cost $6,000 for the carrying out of the plans and specifications of the city, if the contract is let to any other company, the acceptance of this offer will free the city from their obligation to the La Crosse Construction company at an added expense of $684.60. This means that in order to continue the improvements of roads and bridges in Minnesota the city will have to pay $684.60.

Agreement is Likely
As the city is desirous of continuing the work and having the bridge put in proper shape, there is every possibility of an agreement being reached on this basis.

Alderman O. Granke, chairman of the committee today declared that it would be impossible to make any definite assertion, however, until the committee takes the matter up at tonight's meeting.

HEAR ARGUMENTS IN BURNS TRIAL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 11.—Arguments in the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Detective William J. Burns to escape detention by the Indiana courts on the charge of kidnapping John McNamara and taking him to California for trial in the famous dynamiting cases were made in the federal court here today.

Counsel for Burns argued that the detective was acting under the provision of the United States constitution which provides that individuals may be extradited from one state to another for trial. It was argued from this that it was unnecessary for Burns to grant McNamara the right of counsel in accordance with the Indiana law and that, since the latter conflicted with the federal constitution, it was void.

PROF. HIBBEN SUCCEEDS WILSON

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 11.—Prof. John Grier Hibben of the faculty of Princeton university, today was unanimously elected to the presidency of that institution, succeeding Woodrow Wilson, who resigned to become governor of New Jersey. Prof. Hibben is himself a Princeton man, class of '82, and one of the most popular members of the faculty.

Dead Line Down; Wall Street Fears

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The "dead line" is down, and Wall Street admits that, with all its security, it is afraid.

In bygone years, Police Inspector "Tom" Byrnes fixed Fulton street as the "dead line" below which no crook might penetrate on Manhattan island. With messenger boys and clerks wandering about in the narrow labyrinths with millions in cash or securities, it would have been a thieves' paradise. The "dead line" balked them.

The Equitable fire has kept the police and plain clothes men so busy they haven't been able to watch the crooks. Brokers and bankers, knowing this, have put into service hundreds of special policemen and private detectives to guard the messengers.

HOUSEWARMING OF YEOMEN BIG PARTY

The Yeomen of America housewarming last night at their initial meeting in Linker hall, was one of the most successful entertainments given by this society. Officers for year were installed by the supreme vice president, George Johnson of Aurora, who exemplified the initiating work. After the business meeting the members and their invited friends were entertained by a very enjoyable dance which was given through the generosity of District Manager W. A. Smith. The regular Yeomen orchestra furnished the music.

The Y. of A. card party in the afternoon was enjoyed by ten tables of players. Prizes were taken by Mrs. C. Rosberg, Mrs. Hettinger, Mrs. J. Gibbons and Mrs. John Wiggert. The officers installed were: president, John W. Noble; past president, Herman Buelow; vice president, Margaret Wiggert; chaplain, Jessie Enders; Chancellor, John A. Kobitz; vice chancellor, Bertha Moews; secretary, Laura T. Hussey; corr. secretary, Mayme Foster; treasurer, Dr. Jno. A. Winters; guide, Bruno Wagner; assistant guide, Berdie Hass; sentinel, Sarah Tilley; guard, Wm. Hauswirth; one trustee, Wm. Moews.

and thirty-five private detectives gathered around as the officers threw the bolts. Under this guard the $75,000,000 in money and securities was removed to the waiting steel barred wagon and carried to the main offices of the Bankers' trust on Wall street. The papers were not even scorched by the heat, giving financiers great hope that the contents of all other vaults would be found intact.

By entering the second sub-bell under the building, firemen today penetrated to the spot where William Campeon's body is buried in a great sheet of ice on the ground floor. They are now cutting their way upward, hoping to secure the body before the walls fall.

ISSUE CALL FOR WAGE CONFERENCE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 11.—The official call for a joint wage conference of coal miners and operators from throughout the coal producing regions of the United States was issued here today. The conference will convene here on January 25. Miners and operators from Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Virginia will be represented. Wage contracts in practically all bituminous and anthracite regions expire on April 1. More than 400,000 miners, the larger portion of whom are members of the United Mine workers, will be affected.

WANTS GOVERNMENT PROFIT REGULATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Government regulation of profits of big corporations was the remedy for trust control given today by Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook, and T. R.'s boss editor, to the senate interstate commerce committee. "Any corporation large enough to exercise perilous control over prices should be subject to a government bureau or commission having power to fix prices or profits," he said.

DR. WEBSTER WILL PLEAD INSANITY

STERLING, Ill., Jan. 11.—Attorney John Erwin, for Dr. Harry Webster, confessed wife slayer, who will plead guilty to murder in the first degree when he is brought in to open court tomorrow, announced today that an effort will be made to save Webster's life by proving him insane. There seems to be no doubt that Webster, whose crime is the most revolting in the history of Ozio county, will receive the death sentence on his plea of guilty unless it can be established that he was insane.

NOMINATE THE SAME TICKET

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 11.—It was announced here late this afternoon that as a result of referendum vote in the social-democratic party, returns from which are now complete, the entire city and county tickets are almost unanimously renominated as candidates in the coming spring elections when the socialists will attempt to retain control of the city and county offices.

OLD RESIDENT DIES TODAY

OWNED LA CROSSE HOTEL

With Her Husband, She was the Proprietor of the Original Hotel La Crosse

Mrs. Julia Renner, aged 73 years, a resident of La Crosse for many years, died this morning at her residence, 418 South Fourth street. She had been ill for three months and death followed a decline in health.

Mrs. Renner was born in Posen, Prussia in Germany, and came to America when she was about eighteen years of age. At first she resided in New York and then she moved to Davenport, Ia., from which city she came to La Crosse, about forty-five years ago. She was married to Louis Renner after coming to La Crosse. Mr. Renner died several years ago.

Long a Resident
Mrs. Renner was a resident of this city long ago when La Crosse was not as large as it is today. Mr. and Mrs. Renner built a hotel in the early days on the site where the La Crosse Steam Laundry now stands and they ran the place for a time. After that they built the original Hotel La Crosse on the same place where the present building, which has been remodelled and built over several times since then, now stands. They conducted this hotel for several years, retiring from the business about nineteen years ago when they sold the building to George Zeisler.

Surviving Mrs. Renner are five daughters, the Misses Emma, Ida and Anna, who lived with their mother, Mrs. C. Gorder, 717 Ferry street, and Mrs. Silbernagel of Minneapolis. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Augusta Wittick of Edgman, S. D.

The funeral will be held from the residence Saturday afternoon at two o'clock with Rev. Christy officiating at the services. Interment will be made in Oak Grove cemetery.

PUBLIC BARRED FROM TRIAL

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 11.—When the divorce case of John Bancroft, Jr., vs. Madeleine Dupont Bancroft, both members of prominent and wealthy families here, was called in the superior court today, there were many spectators on hand to hear the testimony, but they were disappointed, for the court announced that all except lawyers, witnesses and court officers would be excluded.

M'COMB UNDER MARTIAL LAW

M'COMB, Miss., Jan. 11.—With rioting again threatened between the Illinois Central strikers and strike-breakers, Major Coffey, commanding the troops on duty, called most of the male population of the town to his headquarters today and declared peace would be preserved at any cost.

CHICAGO TRADE BUILDING BURNS

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—A 4-11 fire alarm was sounded from the Chicago board of trade building at 1:30 today. The police ordered everyone out of the building. The fire spread quickly and the entire building is in danger.

At 2 p. m. the building appeared doomed. At that hour the flames had broken through the roof of the nine story building. Every piece of available apparatus in the downtown section has been ordered to the scene.

At 2:15, the fire was under control. The loss will not exceed $20,000.

Vassar Graduate Held; Tells a Tragic Story

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 11.—A graduate of Vassar, possessor of nine diplomas from different educational institutions of the country and also holding two degrees, Mrs. Anna Benkert, held for selling liquor without a license, told a tragic life story in court here today.

Her husband, whom she met while she was a Red Cross nurse in Cuba, during the Spanish-American war is serving a life sentence in Marquette prison for killing Bartel Jonker, of whom he was jealous. Mrs. Benkert has been conducting a small hotel here.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OFFICERS

The First Presbyterian church, Sixth and King streets, held a meeting last evening, when the following officers were elected:

Elders elected for a term of three years—N. M. Scott, Norman Beans, and W. E. Walker.

Deacons—A. S. Farnam, Ole Elbertson and J. G. Moore.

Trustees re-elected—D. G. McMillan, A. C. Millington and A. S. Farnam.

The building committee which had charge of the improvements made at the church recently, and which entailed a cost of $4,237, reported that all the work has been completed. W. L. Smith was chairman of the committee. Resolutions of appreciation and commending the committee for the way in which they did their work were adopted.

It was announced that the expenditures for the year are as follows:

Trustees' general run of expenses	$2,541.00
Other expenses of various church societies	684.00
Renewance for the year	615.00
Total disbursements for the year, with the exception of the cost of building improvements	$3,840.00
Cost of building improvements	4,237.00
Total for year	$8,079.00

MINERS SUBMIT DEMANDS TO OWNERS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—The anthracite shippers have at last received copies of the miners' demands and it is expected a meeting to consider them will be called for soon. The men ask for a one year instead of a three year agreement; an eight hour work day; coal to be paid for by the gross ton and not by the car, wherever practicable; recognition by the bosses of check weight men employed by the men; minimum wage rate of $3.50 a day for miners and $2.75 for laborers for construction work, and a general increase in wages averaging about twenty per cent; uniform system of adjusting grievances, and recognition of the union's right to enforce the collection of union dues.

RICHESON TO ASK NEW TRIAL

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 11.—A sensation was sprung today when it was reported that counsel for Richeson were planning to go to the supreme court of this state and ask for a reopening of the case. It is their purpose to file a writ of error, which if sustained, will set aside the plea of guilty entered by the pastor and the death sentence of Judge Sanderson. This action will be taken unless the executive council votes to commute the death sentence.

FOUR TRAINS LOST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 11.—Four Santa Fe trains, which left Denver last night have not been heard from today. A general recurrence of the cold of the past week, accompanied by a heavy snowfall, prevails over the west and southwest with temperature ranging as low as 10 degrees below zero.

Marriage a Failure?

The statisticians inform us that there is an increasing tendency toward divorce, but the very worst divorce tables show that 12 couples out of every 100 get divorced within 20 years of the marriage day. But only look at this statement from another angle. There are 88 couples who do not get divorced. And so, is marriage a failure? Hardly!

Most Furs Wear Long With Care.

Most furs are durable, experts say, and will last for a long time if guarded from moths, high temperatures and spring sunshine. A less durable fur is broadtail, as it is taken from young animals. Chinchilla and ermine are also delicate, both in color and texture, and should be carefully treated. Places that make a specialty of storing furs keep them at a uniform winter temperature.

Overcured.

Doctor—"You admit that I cured you of insomnia, then why don't you pay my bill?" Patient—"Sorry, doc, but I sleep so soundly now that my wife goes through my pockets nights and takes every cent."—Boston Transcript.

DAVIS SPEAKS AGAINST RICH

Senator from Arkansas Says 51 Men Own Thirty-fifth of the Nation's Wealth, in Speech

4000 OTHERS ALSO SCORED

Says that with 4,000 Others the 51 Own 87 Per Cent of the Country's Riches

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—With resounding tones and forceful gestures, Senator "Jeff" Davis (Dem., Ark.) in the senate today paid his respects to gamblers in cotton, wheat and corn. He is author of a pending bill to abolish the system.

Government Tool of Money
"I want to see the gamblers of New York driven out of the stock exchange," he said, "with the cat-o-nine-tails of the law, just as Christ drove the money changers out of the temple. This crowd of gamblers is an oligarchy of wealth, self created, which holds in subjection the interests of the people of at least ten states. It is wealth wrung from the very heart's blood of the people of the south and west. Can it be said that the interests of the agricultural people must longer be controlled by a crowd of money sharks and money grabbers. Shall they longer be led to believe that this government is not for the protection of the weak and the humble, but to further enrich the favored few?"

By means of indirect taxation by the tariff system, the cost of living has gone so high that today gaunt hunger and poverty stalk hand in hand in the very shadow of the capitol itself, the bread line almost reaching to the door of the senate chamber. What care the tariff barons? They are growing more rich, as well as more desperate, and they fiddle and frolic as Rome burns."

Reads List
Davis gave the names of fifty-one multi-millionaires and said that with 4,000 other millionaires they owned 87 per cent of the wealth of the nation, which is estimated to be a little over $100,000,000.

Included in Davis' list were: John D. Rockefeller, 600 million; Andrew Carnegie, 500 million; W. W. Astor, 300 million; J. Pierpont Morgan, 150 million; William Rockefeller, 100 million; W. K. Vanderbilt, 100 million; Mrs. Hetty Green, 40 million; Mrs. W. Walker, 35 million; H. C. Frick, 30 million; D. O. Mills, 30 million; Marshall Field estate, 75 million; J. J. Hill, 60 million; J. Archbold, 60 million; Oliver Payne, 60 million; J. B. Haggin, 50 million; James Henry Smith, 50 million; Henry Phipps, 50 million; Alfred G. Vanderbilt, 40 million; George Gould, 40 million; J. Ogden Armour, 40 million; E. T. Gerry, 45 million; Robert Goetz, 40 million; J. H. Flagler, 40 million; Claus Spreckles, 40 million; W. F. Havemeyer, 30 million; Jacob H. Schiff, 30 million; P. A. B. Widener, 30 million; George F. Baker, 25 million; August Belmont, 25 million; James Stillman, 25 million; Norman B. Ream, 25 million; James G. Bennett, 25 million; D. G. Reid, 25 million; Frederick Pabst, 25 million; William D. Sloan, 25 million; William B. Leeds, 25 million; James B. Duke, 25 million; A. N. Brady, 25 million; George Vanderbilt, 25 million; John Moore, 25 million; Frederick W. Vanderbilt, 20 million.

DAMROW TO HEAD CHEESEMAKERS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 11.—All indications today in the twentieth annual convention of the Wisconsin Cheese Makers' association in session here pointed to the election of O. A. Damrow, president of the Sheboygan board of trade, to succeed J. B. McCreary, Marshfield, as president.

Climbing for Cats.

A boy in northern Michigan was out hunting and saw two cats up a tree. The family needed a pussy about, and so he laid down his gun and took a climb. What he didn't know until too late was that the animals were wildcats. Before he could lay hold of the cats they laid hold of him, and the doctor who attended his hurts counted up 41 bites and scratches. In hunting for cats be careful that you don't get the wrong breed.

A Beggar's Luggage.

When Bridget Flanagan, who described herself as "a poor lone Irish widow woman," was arrested for begging at Wells she had the following articles distributed about her person: Tea, sugar, fresh cut beefsteak, piece of bacon, two bloaters, bread and cheese, four buns, bag of biscuits, cooked fagot, two apples, onions, two clay pipes, tobacco, cigarettes and snuff.—London Evening Standard.

In New York.

New York now has all-night banks, all-night saloons, and all-night restaurants. We are informed that the churches continue to close early.—Chicago Record-Herald.

What Was In Her Heart.

"Tell me," he sighed—"tell me, beautiful maiden, what is in your heart?" The girl gave him a look of icy disdain, and then vouchsafed the monosyllable, "Blood!"

If cold weather nips a person's ears what will catnip?

GOLD STOPS TRIP TO COUNTY POOR

Members of W. C. T. U. Abandon Annual Visit to Poor House; Send Presents to Inmates

For the first time in thirty years the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of La Crosse has missed their annual visit to the county poor house. It has always been the custom of this society to visit the poor house with presents for the inmates on the first Sunday following New Years, but owing to the extreme cold, the trip was abandoned this year.

However, the inmates of the poor farm were provided with the usual treat which is given by this society, the officers having made arrangements with superintendent of the poor house to take the goods to that institution.

Among the things sent to the poor farm was seventy pounds of candy which had been donated by the different candy manufacturers of La Crosse. Several of the churches also aided the W. C. T. U. members with small donations of money and a large number of useful articles were included in the list.

PROUTY CHAIRMAN OF COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Commissioner Prouty was today unanimously elected to one year chairman of the interstate commerce commission by his fellow commissioners. His election was in line with the policy of the commission adopted a year ago when Chairman Knapp was appointed to the commerce court. At that time the commission adopted a rule that thereafter the term of office of the chairman should be one year, and that the office should be filled in the order of the seniority of service.

FORGER-BIGAMIST PLEADS INSANITY

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 11.—A plea of insanity will likely be entered in behalf of Edward R. Jay, alias Jay Lee, alias Jay Gould, now held here on a charge of forgery. It has also been definitely ascertained that Jay is guilty of bigamy. Mrs. Jay is Miss Estelle Siegler of a prominent family in Jasper county, Mo., who is now living with Jay's parents. Wife No. 2, Ellen May Chamberlain, an actress of St. Louis, declares she married Jay as "Jay Lee," and had no idea he had another wife.

Keeping a Fortune.

It is one of the significant signs of the times that there is an ever-increasing business of "looking after" estates, insuring and dispensing incomes to the idle heirs and the incompetent. The question is often asked, "Why should he work? His father left him rich." The work of keeping a fortune is, in reality, a business in itself, and sometimes it is more difficult than the making. To be employed in that business is nobler than haunting hotel lobbies or sitting in club windows.—New York Mail.

Uplifting Power of the Press.

"It (the press) lifts us out of the local rut and gives us the broader spirit and intelligence of common citizens of a great country. Still further, it extends our sympathies beyond natural bounds and gives us the feeling of human solidarity."—Dr. Albert Shaw.

Called.

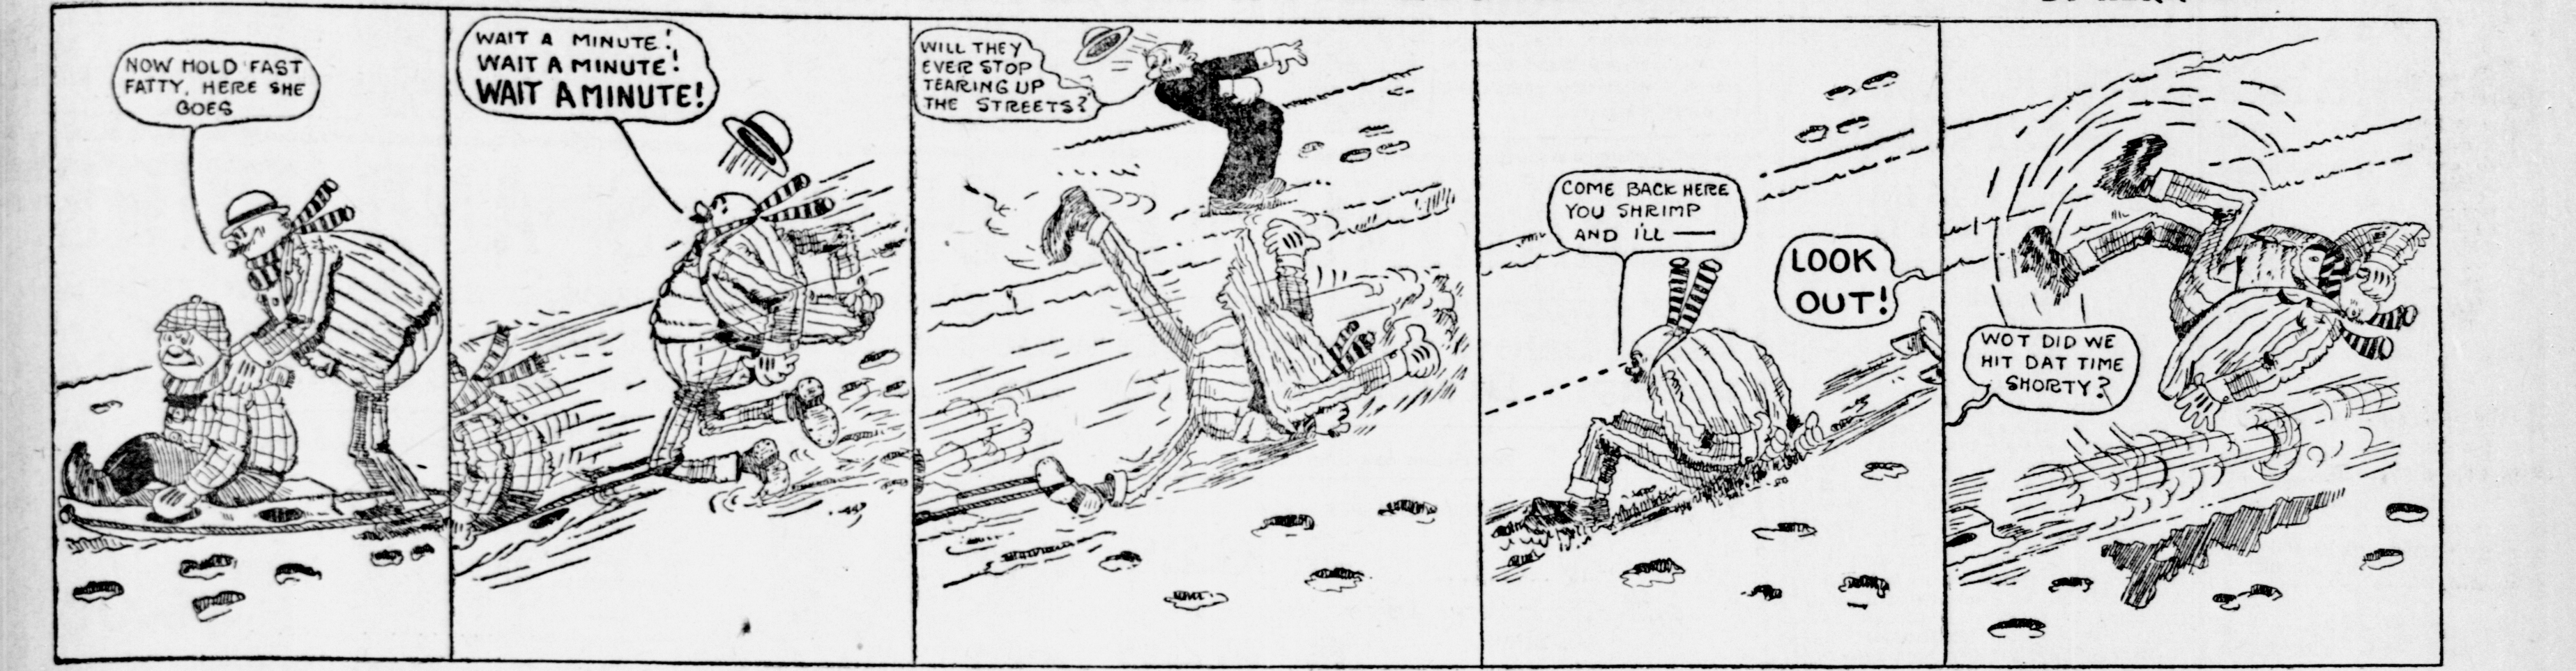

"I asked the audience to lend me their ears," said the verbose speaker. "But in three-quarters of an hour they were dozing." "I see," replied the financier. "They called the loan."

Morally Speaking.

Morally speaking, the person usually alluded to as the man higher up is in reality the one lower down.—Washington Star.

Ready to Meet Emergencies.

"Be systematically heroic in little unnecessary points. Every day do something for no other reason than its difficulty, so that if an hour of need should come, it may find you trained to stand the test. The man who has daily inured himself to habits of concentrated attention, energetic will, and self-denial in unnecessary things, will stand like a tower when everything rocks around him."—William James.

Hard to Make Impression.

One great reason why Experience is considered such a hard teacher is the fact that her pupils are frequently so unwilling to learn that they require to have a lesson hammered in two or three times before they finally get it.

Easily Adjusted.

When the family for which Uncle Erastus had worked so long and faithfully presented him with a mule he was overcome with joy.
"He's a bad kicker, the family," said the son of the uncle. "I told father I didn't see what you could do with an animal that liked to kick and back better than anything else."
"It's got that all planned," said Uncle Erastus, solemnly. "When I harnesses dat animal into my cart, if he acts contumacious an' starts in to back, I's gwine to take him right out'n de cart, turn it round an' den harnesses dat mule in hindsides befo'. Dat'll humer him, an' it'll get my cart up de hill jes' de same."—Youth's Companion.

One Hair's Breadth.

A "hair's breadth" is 17-10,000 of an inch. For the purpose of such fine and delicate measurement tool makers use what is called a micrometer caliper. The hair's breadth is something that has to be taken into consideration in the manufacture of a thousand and one things in the machine maker's art. Close calculation of this sort must be done on the doors of bank vaults, for example, where every part must fit to the nicest degree.—Harper's Weekly.

Grain Letter

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Bids from European markets for all nearby cargoes and estimates of much smaller world shipments from the week than had been expected caused a firmness in wheat prices today. There was much early buying in the local pit and the tendency was for higher prices, although the market settled to figures slightly above yesterday's close.
Bears who have been hoping to start a break in corn found themselves unsuccessful again today when the market moved up on them without warning. Offerings were very small, but some profit taking was in evidence at the top figures. Zero weather in the corn belt, and light offerings of the American and La Plata crop caused a substantial rise in European markets.
Oats held a firm undertone with a strong demand in evidence in the pit following the higher prices in corn. Offerings were small, but resting orders on the high spots caused profit taking. Movement of the cereal is exceedingly small.
Provisions were firm with the trade very slow. There was almost no commission house buying but the pit speculators bought because of the firm price for hogs.

IOWA TO PROBE SUMMER BASEBALL

Interesting Developments Expected to Result from Letters Sent to the Players

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Jan. 11.—Iowa's athletic board began a systematic effort today to collect data on the prevalence of summer baseball. Letters have been sent out to over fifty men who were prominent athletes here at one time or another inquiring as to their own real status at the time they participated. The letters were sent mostly to men who have played on baseball teams within the past five years. They are asked in these letters as to their own standing at the time they played, and as to what they know of the record of athletes from this and other schools with whom they have come in contact. No man is asked to incriminate himself in his reply, and is given his discretion as to mentioning names of others.

There is a general belief among those who have learned of the action of the board that it will result in some interesting disclosures. Members of the board decline to discuss the matter, except to say that the action was in accord with the sentiment of the conference in throwing every light upon the question of summer baseball.

MURPHY PLANS TRAINING TRIP

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—After a three weeks' sojourn in the southern states and in Panama, President C. Webb Murphy of the Cubs, returned to his office today and began putting the finishing touches to his arrangements for the west siders' spring training trip. He announced he would probably take up the Mordecai Brown case. "Brownie" has announced his retirement from the game, but Murphy is confident he can induce the Cub star to reconsider.

DEMAREST AHEAD IN BIG TOURNEY

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Calvin Demarest, former 18-2 balk line champion, looks like an easy winner today in his handicap match with Fred Conklin, the international amateur champion. Runs of 145, 133 and 90 enabled the professional to overcome Conklin's handicap in the third block of their match last night. Conklin's grand total is 64, with high runs of 33 and 32. Demarest's grand total is 1,200.

BOARD IN FAVOR OF BADGER GAME

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 11.—The University of Minnesota athletic board of control is on record today as favoring a Minnesota-Wisconsin football game this year. Following the Pickering controversy between the schools last fall it was predicted that athletic relations between the schools would be severed.

SKIING POPULAR IN WISCONSIN

Big Tourney to Be Held at Stoughton Soon to Break All Former Records

STOUGHTON, Wis., Jan. 11.—The greatest skiffest held in Southern Wisconsin this season will be staged on January 24 by the Stoughton Ski club. Practically every contestant of the great national tournament will stop off at Stoughton on his way to Chicago, and will try to break the United States skijumping record on Stoughton's world's steepest and highest ski trestle. It is generally admitted that the possibility of making better than 152-foot jumps is greater on this hill than on any in America, and every skier is anxious to get a chance at this distinction.

Entries have already been received from nearly all of the best ski experts in America. Six fresh Norwegians, recent arrivals from Norway, will compete in the tourney. They will slide against the best of America. Four of them will compete in the amateur class, and the other two in the professional field.

Prizes for this meet will average from $25 to $50 for individual jumps. A twin jump, in which two men slide down the steep incline beside each other, will be a feature of the program.

The professional ski team of the North Star Ski club of Chippewa Falls, has returned here and is in daily practice for the tournaments. The team is the largest squad of professionals on the national ski circuit and numbers 10 expert skiers. The regular winter tournament here will be held Sunday, January 21. This city supports three live amateur clubs among the boys, and yesterday with the mercury 16 below zero the South Side Boys' Ski club held a tournament with 30 entries making jumps of 70 to 80 feet. Next Sunday the Roosevelt Valley Amateur club will hold a tournament. Ski interest among the boys of this city is greater than ever before.

ISELL GIVES NO OPTIONS

DENVER, Col., Jan. 11.—Frank Isbell, owner of the Pueblo club, Western league, who it is reported, has a deal on to transfer the team to Wichita, has temporarily rejected the request made for an option by J. S. Gunthorpe of Denver. Gunthorpe asked for a fifteen day option on the club at a figure a trifle less than $15,000. Isbell replied in a telegram that the Wichita business men had asked for an option for $15,000, but that he would give no one an option on the team. He stated, however, that the Wichita men had made him an offer and that he wanted to think it over for a few days.

GARDEN REMAINS UNTIL APRIL

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Diana, atop the Madison Square Garden, will continue to wave her flimsy bronze garments to March winds and April showers, for the great show place, wherein so many athletic meets have been held, will not be torn down for some months. Contracts have been signed permitting the holding of the sportsmen's show, the motorboat show and a big circus there as late as April 20. The date for demolishing the garden originally was set for February 5.

TURK NOT TO FIGHT IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—The chances are, according to wrestling promoters here today that the Yussif Mahmoud-Jess Pederson champion wrestling match will be held in Kansas City. Mahmoud's manager, Emil Klank, is said to have been tipped by the police that the Turk cannot wrestle in Chicago.

Minneapolis is another possible location for the bout which is scheduled to take place in March.

CHANCE JOINS CUBS IN MARCH

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Word received from the Pacific coast today states that Manager Frank Chance will not start on the spring training trip in February with the Cubs, but will join his team in New Orleans about March 3. Chance is promoting the erection of an office building in Glendora, Cal.

NEW BALL PARK IN BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Accompanied by his architect, Charles H. Ebbets, of the Brooklyn Nationals, has gone to Toledo, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Philadelphia to inspect the modern baseball plants in those cities preparatory to the erection of the New Ebbets field in Brooklyn.

HACK WANTS RETURN MATCH

LONDON, Jan. 11.—George Hackenschmidt, the Russian wrestler, who quit cold in his Labor day match in Chicago with Frank Gotch, is talking about a return engagement as soon as his knee is cured. Few believe the Iowa champion would consider another match with the "lion."

FLYNN FIGHTS KUBIAK SOON

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Fireman Jim Flynn, the "white hope," who is to face Jack Johnson in the ring next July, is on his way today to meet Al Kubiak, January 19. Flynn will start training as soon as he arrives in the Canadian city, where he expects Tommy Ryan to join him.
